Hearing loss negatively impacts communication ability, quality of life, social interactions and health. Healthy Hearing increases access to care for Special Olympics Washington's athletes by providing free hearing screenings and hearing aid maintenance and minor repairs for people with intellectual disabilities.

Clinical Volunteers - Audiologists, ENT specialists, GPs or MDs, and Audiologist Students assist with the general hearing screening and hearing aid maintenance and minor repairs.

General Volunteers: Anyone interested in Healthy Hearing can help lead education stations and assist with athlete check in and check out.

If you are interested in volunteering at Special Olympics Washington's Healthy Hearing screening, sign up here:
